A lower rate has to earn back its costs.

Divide your closing costs by your monthly savings. That's your break-even month. If you'll stay well past it, the refinance can pay for itself.

ILLUSTRATIVE

Example: $6,500 in costs and $214 a month in savings breaks even in about 31 months.

2 · CASH-OUT REFINANCE

03

Turn equity into cash.

Replace your loan with a bigger one and take the difference, often for renovations or paying off higher-interest debt.

> You trade your current rate for today's rate on the whole balance. Run both scenarios before you decide.

04

Borrow only what you use.

A home equity line of credit works like a credit line backed by your home. You pay interest on what you draw, and your first mortgage stays untouched.

- Often a variable rate
- Can be useful as a reserve for planned projects

05

Mortgage insurance doesn't have to be forever.

On many conventional loans you can ask to remove PMI once you reach about 20% equity. Lender rules, seasoning and appraisal requirements vary, so ask yours how it works.

> Extra principal payments can get you there sooner.

STOP CHECKING

06

Let the market come to you.

Set a target rate once. Lowi™ checks rates every hour and sends a text and an email when your number shows up.
